A NEW FIELD FOR THE NOVELIST.

Very different lines of development have been followed by the European and the Asian. In Asia and the Asiatic mind, there prevails an idea that knowledge can be assimilated once and for all. That if you can obtain it you immediately possess the knowledge of everything, the pass key that shall unlock every door. That is the reason of the prolonged fasting and solitary meditation of ascetics. They believe that by attenuating the bond between soul and body, the soul can be liberated and can temporarily identify itself with other objects, animate and inanimate, besides the special body to which it belongs, acquiring thus a direct knowledge of those objects, and they believe that this direct knowledge remains. Western philosophers argue that the only acquaintance a man can have with bodies external to his mind is that which he acquires by the medium of his bodily senses—though these are themselves external to his mind, in the truest sense. The senses not being absolutely reliable, knowledge acquired by means of them is not absolutely reliable either, so the ultimate difference between the Asiatic and the European man of science is, that while the former believes all knowledge to be directly within the grasp of the soul, under certain conditions, the latter, on the other hand, denies that any knowledge can be absolute, being all obtained indirectly through a medium not absolutely reliable.

The western system makes difficult the solution of such problems as those presented by the phenomena of spiritualism and the driving rod where material effects are produced by forces which seem to originate in unseen, but intelligent sources. A great many charlatans have seized the opportunity to impose upon the credulous, and have succeeded in making many believe that the phenomena were messages from friends who had long been dead, and have made money by catering to the grief of the mourners. Science is busy with the problem, and it may be that with new light the cause may be revealed. In India there is a class who pretend to be able to control the original sources of power. Instead of being mediums, delivering messages from spirits, they, themselves, stand behind the screen and direct the powers. Some of them claim to have discovered the secret of immortality, and live on and on, independent of the laws of decay and death. This interesting field has been invaded by the novelist, and a book sent the GAZETTE by W. A. and O. S. Houghton of Sacramento, makes quite an interesting story of the life of Abdul Hades-ben-lask, which he contacted into Mr. Isaac. He is led by the death of an English lady that he loves up to the spirit of Occultism, and becomes one of the mystic brotherhood. There are many glimpses of life and scenery in India, and the whole is quite an interesting tale.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Has George C. Gorham fallen down the back stairs of oblivion? asks the New York Graphic. "Because," as the man remarked of the finger he had accidentally slipped off, "I don't see it here now."

Of the 30,000,000 of acres in Ireland, 4,000,000 are under cultivation, and this amount is expected to support 5,000,000 people. No wonder Ireland wants home rule.

More of the James Trial.

GALLATIN, Mo., August 28.

The James trial was resumed this morning. The defense asked permission to introduce a specification of the acts against the witness, Mrs. Bolton, without attacking their credibility. The intention was to open up the murder of Wood Hite, at Ford's house, for which Liddell is now under arrest, and of which Mrs. Bolton and Cap. Ford were witnesses. Ida Bolton, aged 14, the daughter of Mrs. Bolton, was the next witness; she was present at the killing of Wood Hite, but the witness was not permitted to say who did it. She narrated the details of the burial, and the clearing of the room; her mother did the latter. This was an indirect contradiction to her mother's testimony. While Bolton, 16 years old, was the best witness for the State this morning. He positively identified Frank James as the associate of Liddell, Jesse James and the two Hites. The witness' description of the burial of Hite was as graphic as the killing. Cap. Ford, Bob Ford and Wilbur Ford were the body where it had lain on the floor all day, wrapped in a horse blanket, and then took it out and buried it in the pasture.

Both Antagonists Killed in a Duel

VANDALIA, Ill., August 28.

A fatal encounter occurred early this morning, near London City, between Louis Phillips and Jacob Rosenbrook, in which the latter was killed instantly and the former wounded so badly that he died in a few hours after. The affair had its origin in a grudge of long standing, growing out of disrespectful remarks by Phillips concerning Rosenbrook's sister. Each time they met they quarreled, and yesterday morning they decided to settle the matter in a duel with pistols, to be fought at 6 o'clock this morning at the place mentioned. They chose as seconds Mack Swark and Jack Wren, who were present and witnessed the shooting. Rosenbrook fired the first shot, the ball entering Phillips' mouth. Phillips staggered, but before falling discharged his weapon, the ball taking effect on one side of Rosenbrook's mouth, ranging upward through the head. Both duellists were young men, Phillips being 22 years of age and a school teacher. Neither of the seconds have yet been arrested.

An Oil Explosion.

NEW YORK, August 27.

This afternoon a large tank, containing several thousand gallons of oil, exploded in South Brooklyn. The burning oil ran in every direction. John Reynolds, an old man, was overtaken by the blazing stream, and is thought to be fatally burned. Joseph Dennis was burned about the face, and Michael Cavanaugh about the body. Samuel Lovey, a fireman, was thrown from an engine on the way to the fire and severely injured. Before the fire arrived, another tank exploded, setting fire to the entire works. The flames continued spreading until all the buildings were in ruins. The works were owned by Borne, Sargis & Co. Their loss on the buildings, machinery and stock is about $200,000.

He is Going South.

TRENTON, N. J., August 28.

The Times states that Captain John J. Hall, the defaulting contractor on the Pennsylvania railroad, was seen in Denver, Colorado, Wednesday last, by friends, and he told the latter he was on his way to New Mexico. A further investigation shows Hall's indebtedness is even greater than at first supposed. The Pennsylvania railroad officials are unable to estimate the loss as yet.

A Party Wound.

SAVANNAH, Ga., August 27.

Near Colquhoun, in Wilcox county, a few nights ago, two negroes entered the dining-chamber of a prominent society lady, with the object of outrage and murder. She was awakened by the torches of the men, and put them to flight with a pistol. One of the negroes was captured, and shot dead in his cell; the other is not yet captured.

They Will not Contest.

The Chinese More Hostile.

PARIS, August 28.

The Emperor of Annam has not yet accepted the treaty submitted to him by Hermand, the French Civil Commissioner, but will probably accept. In addition to the conditions heretofore announced, the treaty requires guarantees that the French protectorate be recognized over all Annam. The success of the French in Annam has rendered China more hostile to them, and Chinese troops continue to arrive on the Yunnan frontier. General Thibaudin, Minister of War, has returned from a tour of inspection to the fortresses on the eastern frontier, and will shortly proceed to the Alpine frontier to examine the fortresses.

The Steamship Disaster.

LONDON August 27.

The Captain of the tug, Recovery, which was towing the steamer Woodburn when she was run into and sunk by the French steamer, St. Germain, states he had two bright lights at the tug's mast-head—a clear indication she had a vessel in tow. The captain of the St. Germain says she ported her helm at the last moment, thus causing the collision. The damage to the St. Germain is so great that she will only be patched up at Plymouth and then sent to France for complete repair.

A Dynamic Conspirator.

LIVERPOOL, August 29.

James McDermott, charged with having been connected with the dynamite conspiracy, was brought into court for further hearing to-day. The evidence shows that he was connected with the conspirator, Featherstone, and that the card of the latter, introducing McDermott to Dalton, another conspirator, was attached to the collar of a dress coat which was found in McDermott's box.

A Fight With Brigands.

ROME, August 28.

An encounter has taken place between the police and the brigands, near Casarano, in the province of the same name. The brigand chief, Riaco, and one policeman were killed, and two policemen were wounded.

Afraid of France.

LONDON, August 28.

The News correspondent at Madrid, says the Ministers who opposed King Alfonso's visit to Germany, agree it would be more politic if he would surrender the idea, because of the umbrage France would take, if he carried it out.

He Goes to England.

A HOME DRUGGIST TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:

RHEUMATISM.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public.

FAIRLY KICKED BY A HORSE.

The Bodie Free Press of the 20th inst. says: A sad accident occurred at Bridgeport on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. On that day Mrs. J. W. Stewart and her little four-year-old daughter Caddie were visiting at Judge Murphy's home. At 4 o'clock the little girl went out to the stable to feed the horses, and while she was near the stable, she kicked her in the abdomen. The mother soon missed her daughter from the house, and went to the barn to find her. Caddie stated that she had been struck by the horse. The child was so badly injured that it was impossible to save her life, and she died Saturday afternoon.

THE LEPERS.

Washoe County Sends One to China, and the Other is Still at Large, and Sleeping Under a Wash-House.

Deputy Sheriff McInnis' trip to San Francisco was not a barren one, for he had good results as he led people to believe. The object of suppressing the truth, however, should be overlooked, for the excuse is a good one. The facts are, that McInnis saw Consul Bee when he was in the city last week, and arranged for getting the Wadsworth leper out of the country, providing Washoe county would defray the expenses. The Board of County Commissioners appropriated money enough to pay the Chinaman's fare from here to China, and yesterday morning he was turned out of the courthouse woodshed, where he was confined, under a six months' sentence for selling whisky to Indians, and placed in charge of Ah Jack, a boss Chinaman here, who walked with him to the west-bound train, purchased his ticket, and put him on the cars. Officer McInnis accompanied him to San Francisco, and turned him over to Colonel Bee, together with eighty dollars, the price of a ticket to the Orient. This precaution was made necessary in order to conceal the Chinaman's identity, as other passengers on the cars and steamer would have objected to riding with him. He will be sent to his native land on the next out-going steamer, and there left to die. The whole transaction was informal, as the Chinaman was serving a six months' sentence for a crime committed and had not been pardoned; but the Commissioners and Sheriff have made the best of a bad matter, and are deserving the gratitude of the people. The expense of sending him home is no more than it would cost to have kept him confined in the woodshed and breeding infectious disease. The other leper, Ah Sam, is still in town, boycotted by all who know him—the Chinamen even refusing to offer him a kind word or allow him to associate with them. He strolls about by day, shunned by everyone, and at night the poor fellow crawls into a shed where he sleeps. His Chinese friends, if he has any, should advise him to go home, where he can be looked after.

OUR NATIONAL PARK.

What the London "Times" Has to Say About the Yellowstone.

The dedication of a district nearly half as large as the State of Massachusetts to the benefit and enjoyment of the people, its preservation alike from the greed of private monopoly and adventure, and from the destructive vandalism of thoughtless or rapacious visitors, was undoubtedly a noble conception eminently worthy of a people which molds its institutions and forecasts its future on a scale commensurate with its magnificent opportunities. The lake stands at an elevation of 7,700 feet above the sea, and is therefore, with one or two possible exceptions, the highest considerable sheet of water to be found in the world. It is drained by the Yellowstone river, which passes through several gigantic canyons, as they are called, and makes several tremendous leaps, one of over 250 feet, before it quits the region of the park. But the unique and unrivaled feature of the Yellowstone Park still remains to be described. The whole district is a very Tophet of strange volcanic agencies. It is without exception the most remarkable region of geysers and hot springs in the world, its only possible rival being that of Waikato, in New Zealand.

What Kind of a "Cat."

The Plumas National tells the following story: When we met Jake the other morning, there was a perfume pervading the air that seemed to emanate directly from him. Our first salutation was, "Beech in the police business, Jake?" "Dot is shust vat I want to know. I tell you, Dis morning shust before dark, I hears some-dings on mine dable, among de blates and dings, und so I shoos, some cop and de-bed out, und sees on my dable a spotted gal shuffling around. THE IRRESPONSIBLE JIM McCUE.

Last Sunday's Nevada, California, Transcript has the following concerning one of the old-timers: Jim McCue, formerly of this city, is running a show on Market street, San Francisco. One of the papers there says: His horses and dogs perform wonderful things for brutes. One is surrounded at the natural intelligence of these animals when witnessing their various and difficult feats.

ROBBED AT THE BAY.

A Prominent Knight Templar Relieved of Four Hundred and Fifty Dollars by a San Francisco Pickpocket.

Last Sunday evening Alvaro Evans stepped aboard a crowded San Francisco Market street car, when a light-fingered member of the pickpocket brigade, whom Mr. Evans thought to be the conductor of the car, pushed him along, at the same time repeating, "Step along, step along, there is plenty of room." Desiring to be accommodating, Mr. Evans kept "stepping along," until the pickpocket had relieved him of his pocket-book, containing $450 in greenbacks, and jumped the game. Mr. Evans felt the hand in his pocket and tried to reach the thief, but having gained the street before Alvaro could get out of the crowded car, he had made sufficient distance to enable him to get into another crowd, where Evans lost his identity and with it his remaining Conclave coin.

A Boy Fatally Injured While Playing With Cars.

At about 5:30 o'clock Thursday evening, says the Bodie Free Press, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Brown was killed on the Bodie and Benton Railway and Commercial company's track. It appears that a number of cars were on a side track, at the summit just west of the Leont works, and several boys were playing "railroad business." With this company was Willie Brown. He was on a car that was connected with others on a side track. The boys turned loose the brakes, and the train ran down a slight incline. The cars did not run but a short distance before coming in contact with several stationary cars. The concussion threw young Brown off the car he was on, and he died shortly after the accident.

ASK HIM ABOUT IT.

Wm. Hoffman can tell you exactly how long it takes to get out of a wagon. He has made the best time on record. While driving contentedly along the street this morning his horse threw his tail over the left line and then began to jump. Mr. Hoffman pulled on the other line but found that would not do so he quit and confined his efforts to yelling "Whoa, Billy." The horse kept right on, not "whoaing" however, and in an instant the front wheel struck the telegraph pole in front of the bank and over the dash board went the big man of the Washoe brewery. The horse was broken loose from the wagon, by the shock and stopped almost at once. A broken cross-bar and a sprained temper were the only damages.

LOUIS DEAN CAME IN FROM GRANITE MOUNTAIN LAST EVENING WITH 300 HEAD OF FAT CATTLE.

Louis Dean came in from Granite Mountain last evening with 300 head of fat cattle. Louis says cattle at the North are, generally speaking, in good condition. He says there is a great scarcity of water on nearly all the ranges, and that in many instances cattle have to travel a long distance for water.

Stock raisers are holding for advance prices this Fall, but dealers best posted in the markets predict lower prices even than were realized last Fall. George Fraser of Wadsworth, will be in in a few days with a drove of cattle from the Stoue House. Parties from Los Angeles are negotiating for the Kellogg band of horses, in Churchill county.

A Good Indication.

The Nevada, Cal., Transcript says the demand for dwelling houses in that city is on the increase. A house was vacated last Thursday, and up to Saturday the owner had received nine applications for it, and the returns not all in.

THE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The young lady students of Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls have commenced to arrive, in order to be settled before the commencement of the coming year's school work, on Thursday, the 20th instant.

SUSANVILLE ITEMS.

Interesting Notes from our Northern Neighbor. Ed. Gazette:—That fearful disease the "bloody flux," that has prevailed here with such fatal results, has subsided, although there has been but little change in the weather, the days being excessively warm, while the nights are quite cool.

Oliver Shinn, a stock raiser and rancher who resided at the head of Smoke creek, was buried here today, having died quite suddenly on the morning of the 24th. He was taken with a violent coughing spell, and arose from his bed and stepped to the door, the cough continuing, when it is supposed he ruptured a blood vessel, expiring immediately. Deceased was 62 years of age, and leaves a wife and a number of children to mourn his loss. His body was followed to the grave by the members of Silver Star Lodge of Odd Fellows, of which Order he was a member, and a large concourse of citizens.

The framers of the Postal Note law, which goes into operation in a few days, seem to have imposed quite a responsibility upon the postmasters of the country. The law says: "The postmasters must retain all postal notes canceled during the week, to the Postal Department, at Washington, inclosed in a registered letter, where they will receive credit, etc." If this registered letter is lost in transit, the Postmaster has no show of getting the money back that he has paid for these notes, unless he petitions Congress and that body sees fit to pay his demands. A queer law, surely.

The man Goose, and wife, who shipped the little girl, Lizzie, to Arizona, by Wells-Fargo, from Surprise Valley, without money and poorly clad, and who afterwards was so brutally beaten by Mrs. Kingsberry, paid this town a visit last week, and tried to obtain possession of the child again, their affections no doubt being revived by the knowledge of her having $1,000, paid her by Mrs. Kingsberry. He left town without obtaining possession of the child, and his exit no doubt was fostered by an intimation that he would receive a call from that close communion sect, calling themselves 801, and this fact would have occurred had he protracted his stay a few hours longer. Before leaving town, he disclaimed any intention of taking the girl, and it is now thought by some that he intends to become an artist, and came here to study the female form divine.

Invalid mothers, weak children, nervous and fretful infants are benefited by using Brown's Iron Bitters. Harmless but efficacious.

THE WESTERN UNION.

For the year 1882 the profits of the Western Union Telegraph Company amounted to the sum of $7,118,070, on 131,080 miles of line and 372,388 miles of wire. The offices numbered 12,068 and there were 38,942,247 messages sent. The average toll on messages was 44 cents, and the average profit 18.3 cents.

SAD NEWS.
